student life

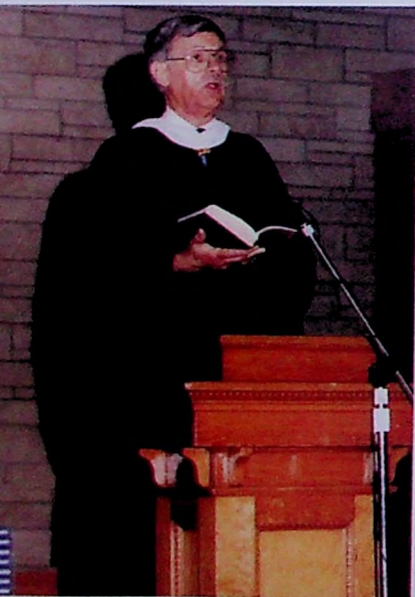

Mr. Larry Sullivan

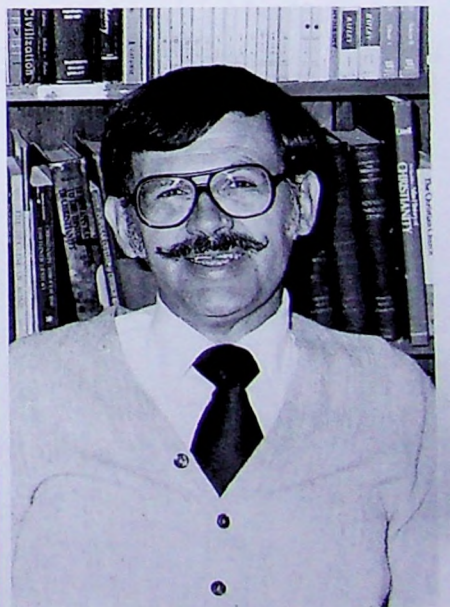

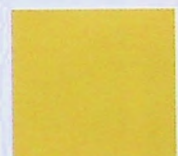

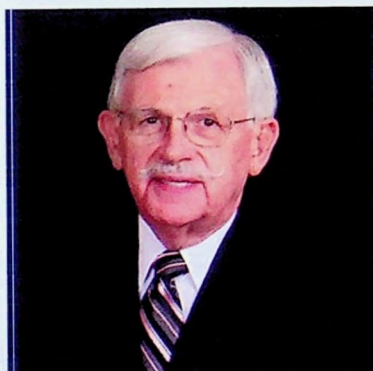

Associate Professor of History
1972-2016

What I will remember most about my teaching at MCC is the relationships with students and fellow faculty members. Just about everywhere I go someone tells me that they were a student at MCC and that they took my Western Civilization or HARM class. Some real old-timers had me for Old Testament Survey.

The impact of the college continues to grow. Since graduating in 1957, it has been my honor to have played a small part in the ministries of the MCC alumni serving through out the world. I keep up with many through newsletters and Facebook. I am ambivalent about retirement. My wife and I joke about moving to the farm and raising hogs. My great grandkids would like for me to live on the farm and keep a horse for them to come and ride. Maybe if I had a horse, I could indulge my penchant for being a cowboy wannabe.

August will be a hard month for me when everybody goes back to school and I don't. But, one thing I will not miss is all the computer stuff that is now a part of being a professor.

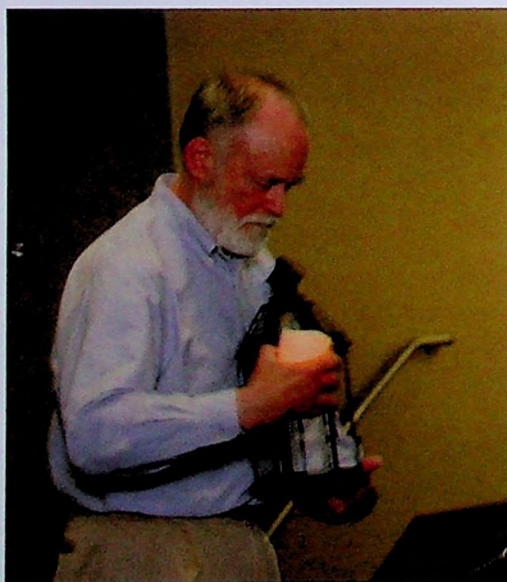

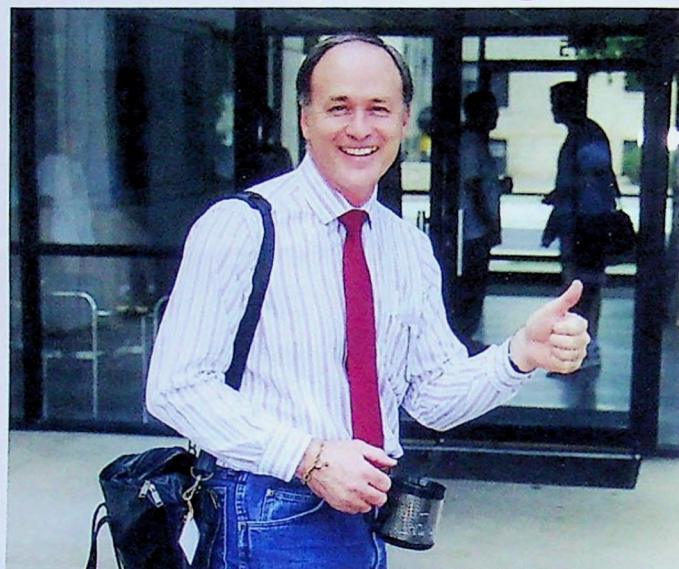

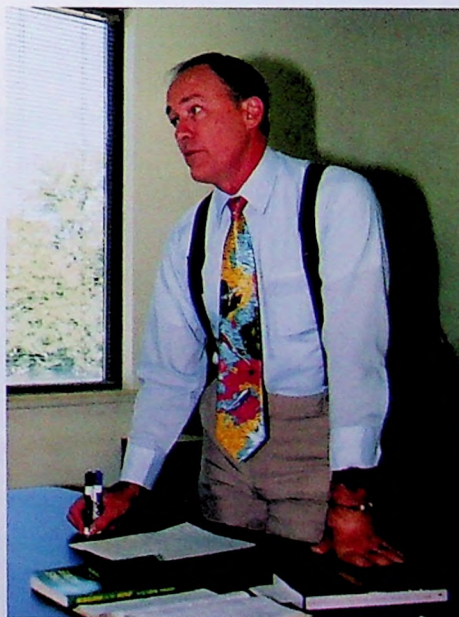

Mr. Rusty Thornley

Associate Professor of Intercultural Studies
1994 -2016

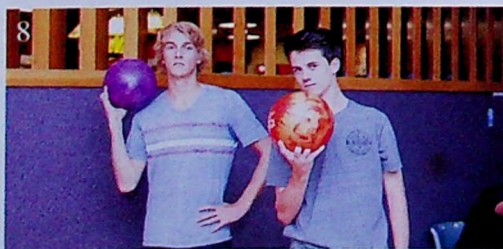

Relationships, relationships, relationships, are what I will remember the most about my time at MCC. It is all about relationships beginning with God and reaching to all the students, faculty, staff, family, friends of MCC and the connections made through the years. By faith in Jesus as Lord and Messiah, MCC is a place where God prepares individuals for the rigors of ministry among the lost people(s) of the world. He allows us as staff, faculty, family, and friends to participate with Him. In retirement, Jan and I will strive to do service within God's will to those in need wherever we encounter them. My special interests will always include visiting with people, playing with my grandchildren, and woodworking. I definitely want to thank the many who contributed to the initial event to welcome me and my family into the MCC community. It is obvious that God has blessed us tremendously. I leave now with a strong sense of excitement for the future of the school. MAY GOD BLESS MCC!

campus changes

Announced in April 2015, Next Generation is a 3-year capital campaign with three strategic goals:

1. Improve the campus first impression.
2. Build a multi-purpose Activity Center.
3. Enhance campus technology and security.

The largest of the three priorities, construction of an Activity Center, will benefit student life programming, provide a home for Thunder athletics, eliminate the need to rent city facilities, and upgrade the space available for leadership training events. The Activity Center will be a 16,500 square foot building at the corner of 14th and Laramie.

In order for these three strategic goals to be achieved, the campus needed to endure some changes. The Athletic Office moved into the Campus Center and the Athletic House was torn down. The Evans apartment building was also torn down. Trees were removed, grass was planted, and sidewalks added in order to help improve the first impression of the campus.

"This year the group of guys were a blast to play with. We had a few rough spots but it was great to end the season with two wins and finish fifth at Nationals."

Matt Briggs

"The season was quite a ride with many ups and downs, as Elijah and I were the only runners. We both relied on one another and pushed each other during workouts and during each race. Some days you feel like you are flying and others it takes all that you got to finish the race. But we never gave up and persevered in each race. We never forgot why we run, for the Lord's Glory and in memory of Coach Larry Olson. A favorite memory is traveling and exploring from Kansas to New York, especially flying again to upstate New York."
